Consolidate your POS Hardware

Your point of sale environment requires a specific arrangement. Whether you need optional stands for payment terminals, scanners, tablets, or a variety of other accessories, the powerfully built Architect gives you the freedom to choose. There are countless ways to configure your point of sale system.

Curb the Chaos

Creating a smooth, focused path to purchase turns one-time shoppers into lifetime buyers.

The sales counter, regardless of industry or vertical, is an important touchpoint for anyone who sets foot into a business. Whether it's used to order food or bag up a purchase, the checkout space serves as a transformative spot where a shopper evolves into a customer; and so many things can go wrong during that stage.

The Architect minimises the distraction of chaotic cables and cluttered hardware; keeping the customer focused on completing the sale and celebrating the shopping experience.

64% of consumers have walked out of a store because of disorganisation or physical appearance.
